FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Do I need my own clothing?

Yes you do. Windproof winter clothing, warm gloves and shoes (with at least double wool socks) are recommended. Also choose a beanie with no bobbles which usually doesn't fit under the helmet.

We also have some beanies and gloves to sell at our shop.

You can also check Ville's advices about clothing for bike rides in winter:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mZNAoOxC9zw>

How cold it can be?

During the winter season it can be anything between +5°C and -35°C. We can ride in almost any weather, but when it's colder than -25°C we may shorten the activity time. We also recommend to really put some extra layers then!

What if a blizzard hits?

Sometimes mother nature hits hard and you need to respect that. When it snows really hard, which used to happen a couple of times every winter, we just can't ride the trails. (The hard trail might be very deep under the fluffy snow layer..) In case the trails are in unrideable condition, we either change to skis or just skip the tour and pay your money back.

Is mountain biking safe?

At mountain biking there is always a risk to hurt yourself, like any other sport. But still we think yes, it is safe. If you have ever been cycling on a regular bike and you felt safe, you can feel safe on our tours too. We never go to dangerous trails with beginners and if you are a more experienced rider you should know your limits. Either way, you need to have valid travelers' insurance to attend our tours.

Cancellation policy

- Any cancellation made at least three (3) calendar days to the tour departure time, will be refunded 100%
